> Dearest Mama Mazz. I was so honoured to share a birthday with you, as there are so many things about you I admire. You were always so stylish and beautiful, and unafraid to speak your mind. I loved your straight talking, and your catch phrase ""Tough with a capital T" is often used in our house. We all benefited from your generous heart and you treated us as family always - something that I am so grateful for. Rest in peace with your beloved husband and son. You are loved, and will be missed. I hope your fiery spirit is carried by the next generation xx

> Loving the gone I was dragged into a new chapter that day. One that was started when your life ended. I grabbed at the previous pages. But life ripped them away. But I still find myself wanting to go back to stay with you. Booked, Bookmarked in thepart of my life where you are still living.

> My dearest aunty Lucy. You were so special to me. I had my first crush at your creche. You made me feel so important when you let me hand out the sandwiches and juice and helping the younger wash up that was the cherry on top. I remember how you used to get cross with Roberto, he gave you a hard time but boys will be boys. I'm sure he's a good man now. What I remember the most about you was that amazing voice and always singing. I hope you are singing with the angels now. Aunty Lucy thank you for what you did for me in my younger years and I was so happy to be in touch with you again. Rest in peace beautiful soul. I miss and love you lots. Wendy

> Thoughts are with Gillian, Loretta, Rob, Oscar, Mandy, Michele and Irene at the passing of Mrs Mazzon. Fond memories of a wonderful person who I first met in Bulawayo in 1977 and I remember Mrs Mazz as someone whose love and hospitality was always generous.
